This fan is made of thin, brittle parchment glued over sharpened iron tines. When used, the wind issuing from this fan is bone-chillingly cold and carries the sickly-sweet stench of rotting flesh. The fan can be used as a non-magical short sword when open or as a non-magical club when closed. See the Dungeon Master's Guide for a full description of this item. Wondrous item, uncommon