Born of a fiery, painful death, a flame revenant is a spirit given corporeal form for the sole purpose of vengeance. Taking on the form of a burnt or burning corpse, this spirit stalks the world, seeking out its killers and slaughtering them mercilessly.

When a flame revenant is created, other vengeful spirits that do not have the individual power to manifest themselves often attach themselves to the flame revenant, manifesting themselves partially as extra pairs of flaming arms, weapons, or magical orbs that surround the spirit. These spirits work together to take their vengeance on those responsible for their death or suffering in life.

Burnt Body. The flame revenant's body thrives in heat and fire. If the flame revenant is hit with an attack that deals fire damage, the fire damage is added to its hit points (it cannot exceed its maximum number of hit points).

Extra Arms. The flame revenant has 3 extra pairs of arms, allowing it extra attack and defense. Each turn, the flame revenant can choose to either take 2 additional Spirit Hand attacks or increase its AC by 1 for each pair of arms.

Actions

Burnt Sword. Melee Weapon Attack: +7 to hit, reach 5 ft., Hit: 8 (1d8+4) slashing damage, plus 11 (3d6) fire damage.

Multiattack. The flame revenant can make 2 burnt sword attacks and up to 6 spirit hand attacks.

Spirit Hand. Melee Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, reach 5 ft., Hit: 3 (1d6+0) force damage, plus 7 (2d6) fire damage.

Reactions

Spirit Orb. When the flame revenant is targeted by a melee attack, it can release one of its spirit orbs to use one of the following effects: (a) Increase AC by 3 until its next turn, (b) Force the target to make a DC 14 Strength saving throw or be pushed back 10 feet, (c) Heal itself for 20 hit points.
